Studies of how physicians describe problematic sick-listing cases

The aim of this project is to gain knowledge on factors involved in physicians in primary care and occupational health experiencing sick-listing cases as problematic, using a physician perspective. Analyses are based on problematic cases physicians have written about before joining a course in sickness insurance.

Publications

In Swedish